

ABOUT THE STATE

HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST FROM DIFFERENT SECTIONS

Twins were born last week to Mr. and Mrs. John Peppin of Stowe, making 12 children in the family.

Committees have been chosen to see about the uniting of the Congregational and Baptist churches in Jamaica, under one pastor.

Henry B. Cushman, for several terms municipal judge of Orleans county, has resigned and Gov. Graham has appointed in his place Willard M. Wright of Barton.

Rev. Charles Wattle, formerly of Richmond, and later in Essex Junction, has volunteered for Y. M. C. A. service in France. He is a Congregational minister.

Carroll G. Page of Hyde Park has received an appointment as assistant paymaster in the United States navy and enters upon his duties in about three weeks.

A barn belonging to Ellis Rushford of Montgomery Center was burned recently and the loss was only partly covered by insurance. Children playing with matches are supposed to have started the fire.

Arthur Trescott of Garfield came near being killed by electricity during a shower last week. He was driving home from Morrisville when a bolt stunned the horse and Mr. Trescott has been partially paralyzed ever since.

Dr. Edmund Desautels of Burlington has received word that he has passed the examination for appointment as first lieutenant in the dental reserve corps and will be commissioned soon. He graduated from Tufts dental college in 1916.

George E. Rand, born in Colchester in 1844, died at his home in Ludlow Monday. He was a veteran of the Civil war and at its close for 40 years was connected with the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad as conductor. For the past two years his health had been very poor.

The water supply in Middlebury is so low that the commissioners have decided to shut it off from the mains from 10 p. m. to 4 a. m. every night until further notice. Unless the citizens are very careful of the supply or heavy rains come, the use of water for anything but domestic purposes will be prohibited.

The eight-month-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Carlow of Chester met its death a few days ago during the absence of its mother. She left it in a high chair while she went to a neighbor's and on her return found that it had slipped down in such a way as to hang itself by the strap used to fasten it in the chair.

After four weeks of terrible suffering the little son of Mrs. Mattie Pender of Jeffersonville is recovering. While playing with some peanuts, he sucked one into one lung, where it formed an abscess. A few days ago, during a continuous coughing spell lasting an hour, the strength of the little fellow lasted long enough to throw off the peanut.

Because of the excellent military work done at the University of Vermont the past year, that institution will be continued in the "distinguished" class, where it has been rated for the past three years. As a result, ten of next year's graduates, who have completed the military course, may be appointed without examination, other than a physical one, as second lieutenants in the United States army.

This is said to be the duldest season of the past 15 years in Caspian lake, Greensboro. On account of the war, the young men usually there are otherwise engaged and on account of the infantile paralysis situation, many Montpelier and Barre cottage owners have not opened up their cottages. Of the two tennis courts, only one is in use and that but little. The number of golfers is smaller than usual and the fishing is the poorest for a generation. Perch in the lake are destroying the fish.

Rev. Dr. Simon Gilbert, a native of Pittsford, who had made his mark in the religious world, died Aug. 1 at his home in Chicago, at the age of 83 years. Dr. Gilbert, who has been a frequent visitor in Pittsford, graduated from the University of Vermont and was prepared for the ministry at Andover Theological seminary. He preached in the West until he became associate editor of The Advance, the national weekly of the Congregational denomination, published at Chicago. For many years he held this position and almost to the time of his death he was called on for literary criticisms for various periodicals.

During one shower in Felcherville last week, lightning struck the house of Mr. Baker, coming into the pantry where Mrs. Baker was at work. Splinters from the woodwork were driven into her hair and tins were soldered together. The bolt followed the water pipe into the cellar and then skipped over to Will Grimes', where the telephone was burned out. In the woods not far from their house two trees were stripped of all their branches. At Mr. Bowen's, the smokestack was knocked off the house and other damage was also done. At Mr. Moulton's, the electric lights were put out of commission and above the reservoir a telephone pole was struck. At Mr. Fitch's a large elm and a big maple were struck.

G. H. RANSLOW DROPPED DEAD

Proprietor of Burlington Store Was at Jefferson, N. H.

Burlington, Aug. 10.—George H. Ranslow, proprietor of the Central drug store of this city and of the Ranslow string of drug stores, dropped dead in the Waumbek hotel in Jefferson, N. H., Wednesday evening shortly after dinner.

Mr. Ranslow left Burlington Monday

on a business trip, to some of his stores, and was apparently in excellent health. He had never experienced any signs of indigestion or heart trouble, and only a short time ago passed an examination for life insurance. The brief communication to his wife, who lives on Orchard terrace, however, attributed death to these causes. Mr. Ranslow was 39 years of age and was a native of Swanton. A few months ago he purchased the Central drug store and intended to make his home in this city. He consequently moved his family here a short time later.

The deceased was a member of the Masons, Elks and United Commercial Travelers. Besides his wife he is survived by three children, Hope K., George E. and Paul B. Ranslow.

The funeral and burial will take place in Swanton.

BIG CATTLE SALE.

Holsteins Numbering 127 Were Sold at Brattleboro This Week.

The last of the 127 head of Holstein cattle consigned to the two days' sale by the Purebred Live Stock company in the company's pavilion at Brattleboro was disposed of Wednesday afternoon, bringing the total receipts up to $22,775. This was an average of approximately $180, which is somewhat less than previous sales, although the average for cows alone was well up with preceding sales. There were about 30 calves and yearlings in this sale, most of which sold for $75 and under, which brought the average down.

Not far from half the receipts of the sale were paid by Vermont farmers, which is an interesting fact, as the cattle were practically all consigned by breeders in other states.

The highest price for the entire sale was $430, paid by James H. Jones of South Hadley Falls, Mass., for a 5-year-old cow.

In the afternoon Wednesday J. E. Singleton of Woonsocket, R. I., paid $380 for a heifer calf four months old, whose dam was a 26-pound cow and whose sire was the $50,000 bull, King Segis Pontiac Alcatraz. The calf was consigned by the Lawson Holding company of La Grangeville, N. Y. He also paid $305 for a heifer calf five months old by the same sire from a 25-pound cow, consigned by the same company. C. C. Abbott of Waterbury paid $350 for a 5-year-old cow consigned by W. W. Sherman of Hartford, Conn., and B. French of Bristol paid $345 for a 4-year-old cow consigned by C. W. Ellis, Jr., of Cortland, N. Y. Only two or three head were bought in this country, at fair prices.

The largest buyer of the sale was John P. Benjamin of Barre, whose purchases amounted to $2,925. The stock bought by G. E. Moody of Waterbury came to $2,810. The purchases by C. C. Abbott, also of Waterbury, aggregated $2,070. E. B. House of Montpelier drew his check for $1,695. J. Aja of Montpelier paid $610.

After the sale the Vermont Holstein-Friesian club held its annual meeting in the Brooks house parlor, when these officers were elected:

President, G. F. Gregory of Dummerston; secretary-treasurer, George G. Waite of West Windsor; vice-presidents, Addison county, E. B. Hyde of Salisbury; Bennington county, H. M. Bottom of Shaftsbury; Caledonia county, E. B. Wild of East Barre; Chittenden county, F. B. Howe of Burlington; Essex county, E. W. Dailey of Bloomfield; Franklin county, F. W. Up to the present time, there have been two nurses, Miss King and Merrill, who have devoted all their time to traveling through Vermont and seeing that the different victims of the paralysis attend to their muscular exercises, which Dr. Lovett, the famous polio-myelitis surgeon, has recommended for them, since beginning his series of treatments here three years ago.

The women nurses have the use of automobiles so as to enable them to reach cases even in the most isolated rural districts. Through their efforts, victims almost entirely crippled have regained the use of their limbs and experience no discomfort from the effects of the disease.

The addition of another nurse was made necessary to carry on the work completely and thoroughly. Miss Selfridge, who has been recently associated with Dr. Lovett in his work of aiding paralysis victims throughout Massachusetts, New York, Virginia and Minnesota by the so-called "Vermont system" of muscle training, has had much experience in caring for cases of polio-myelitis. The recent outbreak in Washington county, in the vicinity of which there have been almost 70 cases of the disease, has added much to the work of nurses.

Principal Owner of the Equinox Hotel at Manchester.

Manchester, Aug. 10.—George Orvis, president of the Equinox Hotel company and principal owner of the hotel, was drowned here yesterday in the small pond on the Orvis farm.

He went to the pond alone to the middle of the forenoon, taking his fishing tackle and a bathing suit, and his body was found about 11 o'clock.

Apparently he had put on his bathing suit after fishing for a while, and it is thought that he was overcome by cramps. He was about 45 years old and a son of the late Franklin H. Orvis and a brother of E. C. Orvis. He leaves a wife and one son.

RAN AMUCK WITH PISTOL

Ernest Phillips Caused Partial Reign of Terror in Bennington.

Bennington, Aug. 10.—Ernest Phillips, a temporary resident, created some excitement on Main street Wednesday evening by displaying a revolver with which he threatened to shoot the police of the village once he found them.

The young man, although not intoxicated, had been drinking early in the evening and purchased a revolver from the store of E. T. Griswold. A report of the numerous threats reached Officers Brazil and Hurley, who set out in search of Phillips, who had disappeared off Main street. Suddenly two shots were heard in the Huling block over Von Dette's jewelry store.

Officer Hurley found the man on the corner of Main and South streets and placed him under the lock, where he remains pending a hearing.

He came here from Cubes several weeks ago and has been employed at day labor by local firms.

Dealing in Stolen Cars Costly.

C. H. Comstock of Westminster contributed $500 more Wednesday to the large amount he had already paid out in handling stolen Ford automobiles. In the municipal court in Bellows Falls he pleaded guilty to the charge of having in his possession a car which he knew to have been stolen, and Judge Thomas E. O'Brien fined him $500 and costs of $8.35, which he paid. The fine was the maximum fine for the offense charged.

For some time Comstock had been out on bail of $500. He filed an application to have an information filed against him, which was done by State's Attorney W. R. Daley of Brattleboro, and on this information he was arraigned in court Wednesday.

A large number of Ford cars, of which some 15 or more were stolen principally in Springfield, Mass., were delivered to Mr. Comstock, who paid on an average about $200 each for them. He would sell them at various prices.

A Springfield man confessed to having stolen the cars and assisted the police in locating some of them. As fast as they were located the purchasers would demand their money back from Mr. Comstock, some of them demanding and receiving more than they paid.

It is estimated that in this way Mr. Comstock paid $5,000 or more, which was in addition to the price for which he bought them, so that his dealings up to date in Ford cars stolen by other parties has cost him $7,000 if not more.
